Public Meetings to be held on future land development in Berea

The City of Berea is currently updating its community-wide Comprehensive Plan. A significant element of this Plan is a fresh and updated look at how land within the city will be developed in the future, through the year 2033. The Plan will include discussion of land uses in broad categories – industrial, residential and commercial – and will serve as a guide for Planning Commission members and elected officials as they make future development decisions in Berea.

The Berea Comprehensive Plan Update Development Committee is asking for input from Berea residents regarding land use throughout the city. The land use element is one of the most important parts of the Comprehensive Plan, and it is important that the opinions of all interested Berea residents are considered as the Committee develops the final document.

The Update Committee will be presenting preliminary results of its research and discussions to this point and asking for input from others in the Berea community. All Berea residents, elected officials and other community stakeholders are encouraged to attend to review and discuss land use proposals for the city's future.
